Waco Daily News.

Texas has given the demagogues a chance now. "Turn Texas loose" and give her a chance.

The remedy applied to the administration at Austin, on the 23rd, was a heroic one, but desperate cases require heroic treatment.

Col. Nunn, of Crockett, made a great hit last night when he compared the administration of Governor Hogg to that of E. J. Davis.

IS IT TYLER OR TEXAS.

The speeches of John M. Duncan and N. Webb Finley at the Chilton obsequies were illustrative of the Tyler methods. These men make the issue one of get there Tyler, the state of Texas be damned. They are willing to sink Texas to hold the offices in the grasp of Tyler. The spirit of intolerance which prompted Finley to demand a padlock for the mouth of every man in Smith county who dared to enter a protest against the Tyler usurpation, would stifle opposition in every county in the state if it had the power. It is unpardonable presumption in the eyes of the Tyler milk maids for any Texas voter to deny the right of Tyler men to hold all the offices or dispose of them as they see fit. The idea that Texas should be represented by any body not of their choosing seems to them preposterous. It is the Tammany idea, transferred from the slums of New York to the offices of a coterie of railroad attorneys in Texas principally in Tyler, nourished by the love of spoils and protected from the, to it, chilling blast of public disapprobation by the policeman's club. This is not exaggeration, for the demand that every Tyler man shall subscribe to the Tyler creed or leave the country means the same thing. There has never been a word uttered by any one of the Tyler gang as an argument tending to show that it would be to the interest of Texas to retain Governor Hogg and his minions at the helm of state. Their attitude from the first has been one of insolent self assertion raising no question save that Hogg is governor, Tyler his home and Texas his meat, and they vigorously resent, as a piece of impudence any effort of the people to give anybody a slice who does not wear the collar of the Tyler gang. They do not attempt to disprove the assertion that Texas is tainted with the foul breath of the Tyler demagogue and that the savory influence of statesmanship has not been applied, and that as a consequence the material business interests of the state are for the want of it, almost in a state of decomposition. They assume instead that it is the duty of the people to accept the Tyler methods though the hair and feathers come off. It will take the purest statesmanship to save Texas from the political putrescence that results always to the body politic from failure to apply the principles of Democracy.

Read "what Hogg said" on another page of this issue. It made no difference then who was elected governor if the commission amendment was adopted. The commission was adopted and Clark is after him and now he thinks he himself is the only man with whom it is safe to trust the commission.

There will be several aspirants for the place made vacant by Mills' election to the senate. Mr. Antony of Cameron is a candidate and others will combat Judge Gerald for the position.

If Mr. Hill "gained new ideas of the south and its needs," in his recent tour, he has no advantage. The south also gained new ideas of Mr. Hill which are fatal to his aspirations.

The funeral obsequies that were held over senatorial remains of Mr. Chilton in Tyler a few days ago, are said to have been very imposing in their character.

Finley and Duncan officiated at the Chilton political obsequies at Tyler the other day. They predicted a resurrection of the corpse.

Judge Gerald will make his opening speech tonight in his candidacy for congress. He will have a good audience.

Primaries are unnecessary where there is no close conflict between the two political parties.

A FEW CLIPPINGS.

The Marlin Democrat says:
To The Waco News: "Go soak your head."

THE NEWS does not follow the example of its Marlin contemporary which wears a Hoggshead without brains.

The Mexia Ledger says:
"The legislature spent a good deal of the people's money in that debate on the resolution to instruct our representatives in congress to vote for the free coinage of silver—especially since they are all already unequivocally pronounced in the advocacy of the measure."

If it had not been for Mills' vote the silver bill would have been killed the first pass out of the box.

The Hallettsville Herald says:
"Judge Terrell's speech at Georgetown shows that time has not impaired the judge's powers of virile and vigorous utterance."

Virulent and vicious would better describe his powers as shown by that speech.

The San Antonio Express thinks honors are even. It says:

"Clark in his early canvass has taken no advantage of the governor. If the campaign from the executive mansion has been neglected, it has not been Clark's fault, nor Hogg's either. The greatest disadvantage of Hogg is in Hogg."

The Tyler gang do not think so, because they claim all the advantage is in Hogg of Tyler.

The first number of the Texas Iconoclast has arrived and shows no disposition to allow a single fly to alight upon the present gubernatorial incumbency.—It says:

"Governor Hogg prides himself upon being a great constitutional lawyer, yet that parti-colored instrument has been falling atop of him ever since he blossomed out as attorney general."

And again:
"A Contemporary says that 'Judge Clark is not the only able and honest man in Texas.' Quite true; but he is the only one so far heard from that will enter the gubernatorial race with a fair prospect of defeating James Stephen Hogg, and removing the hemp halter that is slowly strangling the state. Either Clark or Hogg will be the next governor. Papers that are beating the brush for other candidates are playing into the hands of Hogg—and know it."

The recent blizzard has probably nipped several presidential buds.

Give us a free for all race and the interests of the people will be subserved.

Primary elections nearly always defeat the will of the people. They offer a premium on trickery and corruption.
